Southwark Council offering free parking to help support local businesses!

Southwark council spreading the word about #SmallBizSatUK in order to support local businesses and get people to shop at them!

This weekend coming up, on the 1st of December is the 6th year of 'Small Biz Sat UK'. The aim is "to support, promote and inspire small business all year round" and is done all around the United Kingdom.

They have a website to help people get involved either as a 'small business', 'a customer', 'a local authority' or 'a small biz network'.

A small business has the opportunity to be added to the small business finder. To create logos for their website/social media to help attract people. To get access to a free marketing pack and Small Biz Sat UK

Would you be able to forgive someone who killed your family?

Pieter Hugo went to Rwanda almost two decades after millions were killed during the genocide and photographed perpetrators and survivors together in one photo. He displays the different types of forgiveness that people can have for one another. Explaining that some of the pairs sat together and chatted about village gossip. Others agreed to take the photo and then parted ways, not exchanging much contact.

First Photo

The first image photographs Jean Pierre Karenzi, the perpetrator and Viviane Nyiramana, the survivor. Jean killed Vivianes father and three brothers. After begging for her forgiveness and building a house for
