

Broadcast Journalism VT package form

(Please complete one form per VT. News editor to oversee completion)

VT package title: London Marathon 2019

Synopsis: Our VT is based on the London Marathon and our angle was on the best dressed runners at the London Marathon.

Name: Mahira Begum

---

Role: News editor

Time spent on project: 15 hours

Describe your specific contribution to this project:

In this project I had overall editorial control and responsibility, I looked at overview, timings and communication. I regularly contacted my VT team as they had been allocated roles and I made sure everyone on my team knew what they were doing and what was expected on the day of filming. I booked out the iPod touch and collected it and made sure it was returned back on time. During filming day, I had directed my team with the location we were meeting at and the time and spoke about my plan of visiting the starting point, halfway point and the end point of the marathon. During filming I made sure that we got the correct angles when the camera person was recording GV's, Vox pops and interviews. I also made sure that on filming day we had recorded and reported what we was required and made sure nothing was left out.

Name: Kika Kubanova

---

Role: Video Editor

Time spent on project: 15 hours

Describe your specific contribution to this project:

On the day of the shooting I met with my group to do the shooting and discuss things, it's a group project so we all need to have a say in it. My real work started later. I am a video editor, firstly I went through all the rushes to see what we had, after that I started to put the best and most relevant rushes together. I was trying to only use the most important and interesting ones, so It wouldn't be much longer than 2 minutes, after I put everything together, I sent it to my group so they could tell me what they liked and disliked about that. Also, Arun recorded a voiceover and sent it to me, so I could put it in the video. I made sure that a video is good quality, sound is clear, that I put Vox pops, interviews, GVs, PTS in it.

Name: Arun Matharu

---

Role: Reporter/Researcher

Time spent on project: 15 hours

Describe your specific contribution to this project: My role within this project involved writing the script, planning the interviews and reporting the story. Along with my colleagues, I supported the research of this particular package and formed a key role in the eventual angle that we chose to explore. I helped to ensure that we gathered all the necessary interviews on the day of filming, alongside assisting the others with camera angles, lighting and filming. I contributed towards our GVs and approached people to interview. I then wrote the script and ensured that it fit with the video and editing.

Name: Ameera Raidhan

---

Role: Camera person

Time spent on project: 15 hours

Describe your specific contribution to this project: In this project I was in charge of filming, ensuring we capture the right footage that goes with the theme of our VT and making sure all footage is caught at the correct angles. I along with my team travelled across different parts of the marathon capturing different areas and trying to find as many fancy dressed people as we could. I also made sure that the angles we got in our interviews and Vox Pops were in the right place to give a good and varied view to the viewers. Furthermore, a huge part of my role was trying to really capture different parts of the day that would really give a sense of the marathon to the viewers watching.