Spotify Playlist

- In an attempt to add something decent to my website I added my Spotify playlist. People can listen to 30 second clips of my playlist while scrolling through my website.
- It's mainly to get a little insight into my music taste, as I plan on writing a lot of articles about music and the music industry.

My Banner

- For my banner I chose a rather aesthetically pleasing photo showing multiple works of Van Gogh. It is mainly in for aesthetic purposes, as well as to add a personal touch to my website.

Plugins

I don't have much to say about plugins except for the fact that I spent a solid 2 hours coding my own banner ad plugin, which would use my google adsense account, only to find out I can't add my own plugins to the website, noice.

Widgets

I have added numerous widgets to my wordpress website so that i can navigate to specific parts of my website easily. They also help to keep things organised.

About Me

Hi, I'm Mon. I am from Norwich, and have a passion for writing about things that interest me, especially if I think they will interest others. I first got into writing when I used to type out extensive arguments on r/YuGiOh, when people would say that Blue Eyes White Dragon isn't the best special summon card. It used to get me pretty wound up, so I would turn this frustration into an extensive piece. Some may call that nerdy; I call it progressive. I like coconuts, avocado, big cities and sushi. I dislike the current state of British politics.

Lights In The Sky Over Wandsworth Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night thousands of people are expected to gather to experience Wandsworth Council's Battersea Park Fireworks. With over 50,000 people attending last year, it is no doubt going to be one of the biggest and...

Site Icon

I have changed my site icon to a globe; mainly to add a unique and personal touch to my website, as well as to give the impression that my posts will be global rather than purely restricted to the local area.
